AADOCR & CADR Annual Meeting
Atlanta, 21 – 16 March

February, 2022

AADOCCR/CADR 2022: Atlanta (HYBRID format) 21 – 26 March

Dear friends of the Salivary Research Group

In a few weeks the 51st Annual Meeting of the AADOCCR and 46th annual meeting of the CADR in Atlanta will commence. This meeting promises to be a special one as it our first combined live-virtual meeting!

We hope to welcome all of you on one of the live or virtual activities of the SRG. There will be 1 keynote session, 4 symposia, 2 interactive talk sessions and 2 Hands on Workshops. See the next pages for our program. The full schedule can be found here

A special thanks goes to our program chair Kim Jasmer, our abstract reviewers and everyone involved in organizing this meeting!

Derk Jan Jager
SRG President 2021-2022

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 2022

9:45 a.m. – 11:15 a.m. EDT

Salivary Research Keynote

Restoration of Salivary Function After Radiation Treatment

Keynote Speaker: Kirsten Limesand (University of Arizona, Tucson)

Followed by four interactive talks:

1. Transdermal Injections of L_{1p} -FH Promotes Regeneration of Irradiated Salivary Glands

Kihoon Nam

2. Laminin-1 Peptides in Trimeric Arrangement Improves Salivary Gland Function

Harim Tavares dos Santos

3. Integration of Bioengineered Salivary Tissue (3D-ST) in Immunosuppressed Miniswine

Danielle Wu

4. Digital Image Analysis of 3D Structures for Salivary Tissue Engineering

Cara Zou

THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 2022

- 11 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. EDT

Hands-On Workshop

Single-cell and Spatial Multiomics Resources to Advance Salivary Research

Speakers: Dr. Blake Warner & Dr. Kevin Byrd

Must register to attend

- 2:00 p.m. – 3:30 om EDT

Interactive Talk

Oral autoimmune updates: from mouse models to the clinic

Speakers: Gabriel Valencia, Braxton Noll, Frank Maslow
Liu Fei, Shyh-Ing Jang, Drashty Mody, Hannah Cooley

- 3:45 p.m.-5:15 p.m. EDT

Symposium

VIRTUAL Careers in Salivary Research

Organizers: Kimberly Jasmer (University of Missouri, Columbia);
Christina Jones (University of Michigan, Ann Arbor)

Speakers: Dr. Cordelia Running, Dr. Jaqueline Mays, Dr. Danielle Wu

FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 2022

8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m. EDT

Interactive Talk

Salivary Gland Structure and Function

Speakers: Tristen Tellman, Christina Jones, Kexin Ding, Caitlynn Barrows , Stefan Ruhl , Rob Kolbe

11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. EDT

Symposium

VIRTUAL Saliva for SARS-CoV2 Detection and Impact of COVID-19 on Dentist Mental Health

Organizer(s): Walter Siqueira (University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Canada); Deborah Heller (Boston University, MA)

Speakers: Lina Marin, Purnima Kumar, Michelle Siqueira, Debora Heller)

2 p.m.-3:30 p.m. EDT

Symposium

VIRTUAL Spit Is It: Saliva Production and Secretion in Health and Disease

Speakers: Indu Ambudkar, Kelly Ten Hagen, Roberto Weigert, Min Goo Lee

FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 2022

2 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. EDT

VIRTUAL Hands-On Workshop Telling Your Story – Explaining Complicated Science to Any Audience

Organizer: Dennis Mangan

Sponsoring Group/Network(s): Cariology Research, Craniofacial Biology Research, Student Training and Research (STAR) Network, Salivary Research, Pulp Biology & Regeneration Research, Periodontal Research, Neuroscience, Education Research, Microbiology/Immunology

Description: Stories are one of the most powerful ways to explain complex topics to colleagues, news media, institutional leaders, and broad audiences. In this Hands-on Workshop, you will learn easy techniques for converting data into enjoyable stories that are fun to present as well as hear. You will discover the structure of the story arc, the neuroscience of why stories work for all humans, and then how to embed and deliver your story in presentations to any audience. You will also (re)discover how storytelling is fun and reduces the fear of talking about your science to anyone. This workshop is made possible by the Chalk Talk Science Project (Attendance limited to 20. Must register to attend)

SATURDAY MARCH 26, 2022

11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. EDT

Symposium

Saliva, Development, Disease, and the Duct

Organizers: Kimberly Jasmer (University of Missouri, Columbia); John Chiorini (National Institute of Dental and Craniofacial Research, Bethesda, MD)

Speakers: Catherine Ovitt, Amanda Wahl, Muallem Shmuel, Marcelo Catalan

Registration is still possible!
