Report from the 33rd IADR Indian Division Conference

The Indian Division of IADR hosted the 33rd Annual Conference of the Indian Society of Dental Research (ISDR) in New Delhi on February 17-19, 2023. Dental Professionals, Academicians, Researchers, and Students from across the country rejoiced at the numerous innovations and eureka moments in Dental Science.

The three-day conference included Hands-on Workshops, Keynote Lectures, WHO Plenary sessions, Scientific Presentations, Symposia, and a trade show, all with exceptional success. The conference was orchestrated by the ISDR and the Indian Division of IADR under the Chairman of the Conference & President of ISDR, Mahesh Verma.

This event offered opportunities for scientific exchange, trade partnerships, and interpersonal networking with more than 500 delegates participating from across the country. A gathering of renowned speakers from across the world covered topics on not only clinical science, but also stem cell research, nano-sciences, biomedical engineering, meta genomics, and translational research topics.

IN MEMORIAM

We are saddened by the loss of John Greenspan, who passed away on March 31.

Greenspan was the Seventeenth President of the AADOCR (1988-89) and Seventy-third President of IADR (1996-97). As a past president of both organizations, he will receive a tribute in an upcoming issue of Journal of Dental Research where his considerable scientific contributions to the field will be included.
