Attention, CADR Members!

The Canadian Institutes of Health Research Institute of Musculoskeletal Health and Arthritis (IMHA) invites you to share your input on the National Oral Health Research Strategy (NOHRS).

We are in very early stages of developing the NOHRS, following initial discussions at the launch event held in Ottawa this March. The next step for co-creating the strategy is to consult more widely, in order to gain the broadest possible input. This collaborative approach is paramount to generating a meaningful NOHRS.

Effie Ioannidou named Editor-in-Chief of JOP and CAP

The American Academy of Periodontology has announced that AADOCR President-elect Effie Ioannidou has been appointed as the new Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Periodontology (JOP) and Clinical Advances in Periodontics (CAP). She will assume her position on July 1, 2023. Additionally, Ioannidou was recently selected as chair of the Department of Orofacial Sciences at the University of California San Francisco (UCSF). Her term as chair at UCSF will begin on August 1, 2023.

Ioannidou earned her DDS from Aristotle University in Thessaloniki, Greece, and earned her master's degree in dental science from the University of Connecticut (UCONN). She continued at UCONN where she is Professor of Periodontology and Interim Chair of the Periodontology Department. She has also served as director of the Dental Clinical Research Center at UCONN Health. In addition to being President-elect of AADOCR, she was an AADOCR Member-at-Large (2017-2020) and the first associate editor for JDR Clinical & Translational Research – an associate editorship for which she will be stepping down from to assume the JOP and CAP editorships. Ioannidou will also be concluding her 4-year appointment at the American Dental Association's Council on Scientific Affairs this July.

Throughout her career, Ioannidou has consistently demonstrated a strong commitment to highlighting the importance of clinical relevance in scientific work and promoting this principle among the research community. As Editor-in-Chief of JOP and CAP, she intends to lead with the core priority of improving the oral and systemic health of the public at large.

JDR Clinical & Translational Research seeks Associate Editor

The International Association for Dental Research and American Association for Dental, Oral, and Craniofacial Research are seeking an Associate Editor for JDR Clinical & Translational Research (JDR CTR) to succeed Effie Ioannidou, who is stepping down to become the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Periodontology. Duties of the JDR CTR Associate Editor include the full range of editorial duties, including review and acceptance of manuscripts, manuscript editing for scientific content, providing liaison with authors of reports and referees, assist in the maintenance of a high customer service profile, ensure compliance with publishing and related deadlines, and execute those related tasks assigned from time to time by the Editor-in-Chief or the Associations.

The Associate Editor must have a distinguished record of scientific accomplishment reflected in peer-reviewed publications, specifically in the field of clinical and translational research. A Dental and/or Ph.D. degree (or equivalent) is preferred. Previous experience as an Editor or Associate Editor is desirable. The position is available starting in the Summer 2023 and carries an annual stipend.

Interested parties should contact JDR CTR Editor-in-Chief Jocelyne Feine at jocelyne.feine@mcgill.ca. Please write 'JDR CTR Associate Editor Position' in the subject heading.
